

ABSTRACT

Structure and scope of work. Guidance note of degree project consists of five chapters, contains 22 pictures, 6 tables, 1 application, 7 sources.

Diploma project is dedicated to the development of web application of supporting carwash. In this project was developed web service for carwashes that provide an opportunity to online recording service vehicle.

Section of general provisions contains detailed description of the environment, existing analog systems and statement of the problem.

In the information support section input and output data was identified and database structure is shown.

Mathematical section is dedicated to the solving a task using linear regression.

The software section includes sequence, class, components diagrams and function specification. There is a description of the software tools that have been used in the development process.

Technological section provides the user manual and description of task complex testing.

CARWASH, RECORDING SERVICE, SERVICE, WEB APPLICATION